The Facts of Life Episode Guide: A Comprehensive Overview

When the 1980s television landscape was filled with sitcoms that tackled everything from high school drama to workplace antics, The Facts of Life carved out a unique niche. Set in the prestigious Eastland Academy, the show follows a group of girls—Mia, Jo, Natalie, and the ever witty Kate—who navigate the ups and downs of adolescence while learning life lessons from their wise housemother, Mrs. Garrett. With 234 episodes spanning ten seasons, the series offers a treasure trove of memorable moments that still resonate with audiences today.

In this article, we dive deep into every season, episode, and behind the scenes detail you need to become an absolute fan. Whether you're a nostalgic viewer looking to revisit favorite storylines or a new fan curious about the show's legacy, this episode guide provides all the information you're looking for.

About The Facts of Life

Created by Ann Reinking and Paul Junger Witt, The Facts of Life premiered on ABC on September 28, 1980, and ran until May 12, 1991. The series was a spin off from the popular The Ropers, which itself was a spin off of Three's Company. While the original premise centered on a single housemother and her housemaids, the show evolved into a coming of age drama that tackled topics ranging from friendship and family to social issues like bullying and sexuality.

The show's core cast—Molly Ringwald (Mia), Kim Richards (Jo), Loni Anderson (Kate), and Kim Cattrall (Natalie)—became household names, and the series earned a dedicated fan base for its mix of humor, heart, and authenticity. Over its decade on air, the show garnered multiple Emmy nominations and a loyal following that still streams on streaming platforms today.
